

'Death bed promises are not always easy to keep.'

James O'Byrne is to discover this when he accepts his father's pocket watch and final request.

Honouring Paddy O'Byrne's dying wish draws Jamie into a series of dangerous and terrifying experiences, involving love, death, romance and adventure.

From the East End of London to the mountains of Austria and the turquoise waters of the Seychelles, the novel culminates in a thrilling climax in the peat bogs of County Galway.
